MICHAEL BALBONI

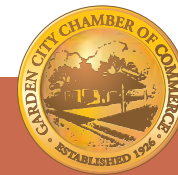

Homeland Security and Government Affairs Expert Michael Balboni had served as the Deputy Secretary for Public Safety for the State of New York. Balboni became the Senior Homeland Security and Law Enforcement Official in Governor David Paterson's Administration, having been appointed to the cabinet-level position by former Governor Eliot Spitzer in January 2007.

Balboni previously served as a Republican representing the 17th District in the State Assembly for ten years until being elected to represent the 7th District in the State. He was elected continuously until resigning in 2007 to head the NYS Office of Public Safety, where he had day-to-day responsibility for managing homeland security affairs, emergency preparedness and response along with law enforcement. He oversaw 63,000 employees and a budget of five billion dollars. Having held several national posts, Balboni had served as an advisor to former Secretary of Homeland Security, Michael Chertoff as well as Outside Advisor to President Obama's Transition Team for Homeland Security.

Upon his resignation to enter the private sector in January of 2009, Michael Balboni reported: "The opportunity to serve in both houses of the legislature and the governor's office in New York State has been a singular honor which I will cherish for the rest of my life."
